

A new film about FAI's international activities

Berlin (17.03.2012) - FAI recently started shooting a mini-film entitled "I am committed to the AMAN-International Foundation - what about you?" in the German capital.

The filming was initiated by the Founding President of AMAN-International Foundation who is directing and producing the film herself. Known for her multiple talents, she has further strengthened her commitment to her organization by producing this film aimed at gathering the commitment of all friends of the Foundation at the international level in order to mobilize the greatest possible interest and true commitment to the activities carried out by the FAI.

The film "I am committed to the AMAN-International Foundation - what about you?" has undergone a first casting and selection of actors who will be shown in the first scenes after the shooting in Berlin.

The film has already won the participation of actors of all ages, men and women, from France, Spain, Russia, Guadeloupe and Vietnam among others. It is expected that a maximum of different nationalities will participate in the film.

"I am committed to the AMAN-International Foundation - what about you?" will be broadcast by theme or by season in order to get the message across in different languages.
